Faith in Families have now merged with Adoption Focus, an adoption agency based in the West Midlands. Like Faith in Families we have been rated Outstanding by Ofsted. The newly expanded agency is now supporting children and families across the whole of the Midlands. Your donations help us continue to support adoptive families from their first contact with us and through the years ahead, as their children grow into adulthood. These donations are vital in enabling us to provide the right type of support at the right time.

Our adopters come forward to offer their homes, their lives and their love to some of the most hurt and vulnerable children. They trust us to help them through the process, making the life-changing and life-long difference to the children they take to their hearts. We are still supporting children through our work within schools across the region including St John Fisher in Alvaston. Your donations help us make this happen – thank you so much!
